

Music & sound, Special effects - Terminology

Foley

relating to or concerned with the addition of recorded sound effects after the shooting of a film

Effects

lighting, sounds, and objects that are specially produced for the stage or a film and are intended to make something that does not exist seem real

Performance

how well a person, machine, etc. does a piece of work or an activity

Environment

the conditions that you live or work in and the way that they influence how you feel or how effectively you can work

Contrast

an obvious difference between two or more things

Props

a portable object other than furniture or costumes used on the set of a play or film

Film score to write or change a piece of music for particular instruments or voices

Soundtrack

the sounds, especially the music, of a film, or a separate recording of this

Cut

to remove something from something else

Alter

to change something, usually slightly, or to cause the characteristics of something to change

Triumphant

having achieved a great victory (= winning a war or competition) or success, or feeling very happy and proud because of such an achievement

Unnerve

to make someone feel less confident and slightly frightened

Comical

funny in a strange or silly way

Anthem

a song that has special importance for a particular group of people, an organization, or a country, often sung on a special occasion

Eerie

strange in a frightening and mysterious way

Source:

Cambridge University Press. (n.d.). Cambridge Dictionary | English Dictionary, Translations & Thesaurus. Retrieved 1 February 2020, from <https://dictionary.cambridge.org/>