FUTURE

Iets in de toekomst geef je aan met:

To be + going to + ww

Of

Shall/will + hele ww

To be + going to + ww

Vorm van to be	Going to	werkwoord
I am	going to	sleep
You are	going to	eat
He is	going to	dance
She is	going to	murder
We are	going to	pass

I am going to work tomorrow.
She is going to murder her husband tonight.
The dog is going to eat that food.

TO BE GOING TO gebruik je als je zeker bent dat iets gaat gebeuren in de toekomst.

We are going to be at the party.
We are going to finish this test
She is going to go home.
Look at those clouds, it's going to rain!

NEXT WEEKEND...

What are these people's plans for next weekend?

Remember to use: to be + going to + verb

Mary  to the supermarket.

Is + going to + go

Morty  computer games.

Sarah  her novels.

Bob  his bike.

Pete and Janet  at a restaurant.

Jack  a race.

Carol and John  married.

shall / will

shall en will gebruik je als iets in de toekomst gaat gebeuren, maar het kan nog veranderen.

I will go to the cinema
I will leave at 9

VORM = will/shall + hele ww

Om toekomst aan te geven gebruik je meestal WILL

Je gebruikt SHALL bij
vragen waarin 'I' en 'we' staat:

Shall I leave?

Shall we go?

Will we go? -> je weet zelf niet zeker of je zal gaan.

Shall we go? -> je vraagt aan iemand of jullie zullen
gaan: "zullen we gaan?"

Shall is ook ouderwets en "slechterik-taal"

I shall not allow you to go!

You shall not pass!

I shall destroy you, mr Bond!

Now write a letter to yourself,
about what you are going to do in the future.

Dear Jeroen,
In the future....
I will be a very famous pop-singer.
I am going to sing all over the world

Dear .....

In the future I.....

I will fly to the moon!
